Rundown on last Trading Day: #267

Adrian's Place on Brissy Northside. Thank you Adrian (our new President) for your unshakeable hospitality. Adrian made everyone feel at home, thus for another successful trade day for some, others came to support and socialize. This was an eventful occasion for all who attended. Woodwork, bric a brac, tasty goods, giveaways, were just a few things that were there, and not to forget the cuppas also. ALL THIS in a relaxed casual atmosphere with a gentle breeze. Sorry to the members that missed out this time .. See you ALL at the next Trade Day 15TH October.

LAPSED MEMBERS:

PROSE: RELAX .. WITH A LITTLE PROSE .. CALLED ‘Hi Handsome’ ... written years ago for an Englishman who was in a major car accident. He lost the use of both arms and had severe facial disfigurement... .. I never met him but typed to him for months. (His friend told me he read what I typed) ... I wanted him to know despite his injuries he had not changed inside This is the only piece of prose I have written. You might enjoy hearing a friend read this to you. I hope it helps the stressed relax, and the lonely and lost feel loved.

Lying along the side of the creek.. Where the stream is running, gently it runs.. Gently runs.. There is a man there... he's a handsome man.. He appears to be dreaming looking up at the sky.. He feels he is moving as he watches the clouds gently rolling across the sky. .. He is in another world .. He's a tall man. His eyes are moving, to the rhythm of the clouds, gently rolling across the sky. The stream is rolling over small rocks in little pools , it is running... ever so gently.. There are 2 small birds there, they have landed there on a pool of water, in a tiny cup size of water at the top of a rock.. The birds are bathing .. Flapping their wings.. Ever so gently.. They feel refreshed.. And the green trees are all around them .. But there is an open section where the handsome man looks to the sky... where the handsome man looks to the sky.

..drifting .. There seems to be some drifting of the trees.. They sway back and forth to the rhythm of the sky... and the handsome man's eyes rolling back and forth as he watches the clouds rolling by .. He feels he is moving with the clouds.. What a peaceful and relaxing feeling it is moving .. Moving .. moving ever so gently with the clouds.

.. A time to unwind, and feel free, to lie down near the stream and look upwards to the sky, and just watch the clouds rolling by , and you are at peace .. Feeling wonderful... all the pressures of the day roll out of your mind.. Your mind becomes free. .. It releases all the pressures of work.. All the pressures of your body.. Your body is floating with the gentle wind... your body feels wonderful.

.. All the bad stresses of the day.. They leave your body.. And it is free.. Free of all the strains.. Touch a flower.. It is living, smell the aroma.. Touch the leaves from the living trees and smell them.. They nourish your body with a feeling of warmth and belonging.. You are loved.
